

[illegible]

...the ... of ...

It seemed to the Editors of the Observer that the professional Abolitionists were more and more the "Kempthorpe" type of man, and hence their article in the Fort (where, we are happy to say, it was met with kindly by that wonderful girl).

Our Boston Correspondence

[illegible]

ness, or anyone were expected to go—except, for instance, those tedious brothers, strong in speech, who landly bore us men, those conceited. The Lowland the Methodists, attended, as my Albion did, the the Rev. Messrs. High and Low, seem to have open the nearest approach to that material passage hereto the sleep are commonly tickled on an every-ingly sensitive; and here we may remark that the Con-the meetings are best dispensed with; and we hope good precedent will be followed in less vital times.

wrest men, working in love and self-denial, are poorly pleased by dance or dinner. Then there are certain iniquities of our fallen natures which the wise would to respect, as to respect, as to respect, as to respect, a divinity which both help our ministers; and the somewhat diminished (unaccountably I grant) after he has heard them demanding pickles or calling for away at the Socinian reception. I see, by the way, that some of your friends doubt the policy of wishing to see the world, and the world, and the world, very troubles. Judging from the talk and rumour of the street, I think the abandonment of your meeting most effective thing you ever did. It has silenced ever the chaff of the weak and foolish, taken up you know better and repented in this view.
the world, and the world, and the world, and the world, they are conspicuous at all hazards; a carrying against the stimulus of their existence; they cannot let thout it," etc. etc. You have shown the grand species of men never silenced by mobs or bullets, who are willing to stand still when a sudden prestige comes from the air, and the human mind is so easily governed ignorantly and in disorder, to show you how nobly this reverses the conduct of all political events, and most religious sects! It gives you the lower social position of a purely moral and unselfish character. Of course the same is true of the from the same source. But must again come down the arena; but this temporary retirement is good policy and good patriotism. I can assure you, upon personal knowledge, that the few real pro-slavery men after the war was fairly inaugurated were inde-

[illegible]

Our Washington Correspondence.

[illegible]

"It is not for me to determine when this struggle will end. But I may say how it shall end. Sooner or overhauled by a mob. At this point the excitement almost ungovernable pitch—military companies were sent out to quell the riot. The old and young, rich and poor, white and black, tried to escape in the violence of their expressions of sentiment against those who have rallied to it.—Chichestnat Gazette.

ST. PAUL, Aug. 1. John Brown's jailor, is the commander commencing in charge of the hospital near Harper's Ferry.

REVEREND LETCHER has sent for the family of the late General Lee, who were residing in the United States, and a monument will be erected to his memory.

THE NEXT ELECTION IN VIRGINIA.—A resident of this State communicates an account of the way in which one Union man there secured a free expression of opinion against Secession. "Which party you wish to support," he asked, "the Union or the rebels?" "The one vote they wish," he replied, drawing a revolver. "I will not allow you to vote for the rebels," said the Union ticket. He was unopposed.—Tribune.

THE LOSS OF VAN METERLIL.—On Monday last the soldiers at the railroad depot in Alexandria discovered a box and gunlocks in the warehouse, and two cases of iron instruments for the manufacture of gunlocks, valued at $10,000, and $100,000.

THE LOSS OF THE REBELS.—A man said that with the troops near Fairfax Court-House, there are 1,000 slaves, in the capacity of servants and laborers. Troops are scarce, and the privation falls first upon the slaves.

FORMATION WANTED, OF THOMAS SPARRROW, who has fled to this country from Ireland many years since, saying he may be in Canada. He, or his friends, can do something to their probable advantage, by sending him to Samuel May, Jr., Leicester, Mass.

PAPERS IN NEW YORK STATE and Canada will confide in the

DIED.

AT DR. ROGERS'S WAREHOUSE, MASS., on Sunday,

Events of importance loom up in the distance. We

AMERICAN ANTI-SLAVERY SOCIETY.
Copies for The Standard from May 14 to June 1, 1861.
C. Eastman, Danversville, Maine	$1 00
W. H. Biddeford, " "	" 00
W. O. Bennett, Portland, " "	" 00
Neal Dow, " "	" 00
Fredrick Hatch, " "	" 00
E. Haskell, Foxcroft, " "	" 80
W. H. Brown, Augusta, " "	" 00
Peter Turner, Hockwold, N. H.	" 00
W. Tappan, Bradford, " "	" 00
Mrs. Maria Grov, Topsham, Vt.	" 00
Robert McNie, " "	" 00
Mrs. John R. Thornton, New Bedford, Mass.	" 00
Thomas A. Green, " "	" 00
Wm. Francis F. Snow, Fitchburg, " "	" 00
Rev. J. L. Russell, Salem, Massachusetts	" 00
Early Hall, " "	" 00
Jos. Southwick, Grantville, " "	" 00
F. H. Snow, Williamstown, " "	" 00
Wm. H. Dow, " "	" 00
Dr. H. Cowdry, Acton, " "	" 00
James Savage, Jr., Boston, " "	" 00
Helen Charles Sumner, Boston, " "	" 00
Francis Jackson, " "	" 00
Rev. C. T. Waterston, " "	" 00
Rev. A. Young, " "	" 00
Mrs. S. Stebbins, So. Wilmham, " "	" 00
Lawson Wetmore, Wokestville, Conn.	" 00
Ann Turner, Bridgeport, " "	" 00
Lucien Ferris, Five Corners, " "	" 40
Mrs. M. A. B. Green, West Winkfield, " "	" 00
John Wilbur, Pittsford, Vermont	" 00
Job Wilbur, Jr., North Easton, " "	" 20
Mary B. Slocum, " "	" 50
R. Baker South, Easton, " "	" 00
A. Mills, New Hartford, " "	" 00
Mrs. M. McKim, North Andover, " "	" 00
Joseph Carpenter, Manchester, " "	" 00
Lynal Allen, Gowaunda, " "	" 00

The quicker the deed is done, the better for us; but it

M. H. Everett, Chalmerville,	1 00
W. F. Shennock, " "	1 00
N. Howard, Silverwoods,	2 00
S. Howland, " "	2 00
Wassau Akin, Pawling,	2 00
Wm. Darrough, Knoll Cottage,	2 00
Thos. Anna Potts, Pleasantville,	2 00
Robert W. Hunt, Manamereck,	2 23
May Springstead, Gaconville,	2 00
Thos. Anna Potts, Pleasantville,	2 00
J. J. Leilus, New York City	2 00
John B. Richards,	2 00
Philo D. Darrough,	2 00
P. C. Geringh,	2 00
Thomas Kane,	2 00
Jesse D. Kane,	2 00
S. K. Kane, Algham City, Pa.	1 00
John Thomas, Marchand,	1 00
Wm. Mithell, Osew,	1 00
Alfred M. Coleman, Olivet,	1 00
Wm. F. North, Northampton,	1 00
W. W. Pollard, Colchester,	1 00
Rev. D. D. Wauke, North Benton, Ohio	3 00
E. J. Guyton, Falls,	2 00
A. Farahan, Leontine, Va.	2 00
P. D. Wislock, Falls, Va.	1 00
W. H. Hudson, B. Withers,	1 00
Wm. Tappan, Washington, D. C.	2 00
Morning Journal, Kingston, Jamaica, W. I.	2 50
John Parry,	50
James B. Hing,	1 85

Do donations.

New York, New York City	5 00
Wm. Darrough, Manamereck, N. Y.	3 00
J. J. Leilus, Newbury,	2 00

Special Notices.

Just published by the Philadelphia Female Anti-Slavery Society, 15th of that good time when ours shall, indeed and in truth,

